DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

1. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claim 40 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because Claim 40 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter as follows. Claim 40 defines "A data structure for synchronizing reproduction of data units of a first type with reproduction of a data units.." embodying functional descriptive material. However, the claim does not define a computer-readable medium or memory and is thus non-statutory for that reason (i.e., "When functional descriptive material is recorded on some computer-readable medium it becomes structurally and functionally interrelated to the medium and will be statutory in most cases since use of technology permits the function of the descriptive material to be realized" – Guidelines Annex IV). That is, the scope of the presently claimed "a data structure" can range from paper on which the program is written, to a program simply contemplated and memorized by a person. A recommendation for overcoming the 101 rejection is to amend the current claim to recite "A computer readable medium storing a data structure..".

Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 1-39 are allowed.
2. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter. In regards to Claims 1-39 the prior art record states Lee et al (US 5,570,340) disclosing a recording medium having a first and second data units and a first data unit and descriptor table (Figure 3 shows the first data 18 and second data 20 as further described Column 6 Lines 42-50). It is further taught by Ohno et al (US 5,512,938) a system wherein the recorded first and second descriptor tables are shown being recorded (Column 9 Lines 10+). Furthermore, the prior art of record further recites Otomo et al (US 6,532,335) to further teach the ability to store and record first and second program descriptor tables that provide links between the two stored tables (Figure 13). However, the prior art of record fails to disclose, teach, or suggest the following limitation:

a first program descriptor table and a second program descriptor table in which information on one or more data units forming respective programs is stored in a program descriptor of a corresponding program in the form of information on respective data unit descriptors, wherein;

the first and second program descriptor tables are recorded independently of the first and second data unit descriptor tables and the first and second data units, and the information on the first data units, which are to be reproduced after the first data units are linked to the second data units, is included in the program descriptor of the second program descriptor table.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
